Torso of 18-Year-Old Boy Found in Stomach of Shark

GALVESTON, Tex. — Galveston officials were horrified and puzzled when they found the torso of a youth, perhaps 17 or 18 years old and between five feet and five feet five inches tall, inside a shark.

The skipper of a shrimp boat told puzzled officers his crew netted the nine foot man eater in the bay and tossed the shark overboard in the harbor after it died.

J. L. Naughman, chief marine biologist for the Texas game, fish and oyster commission and an expert on sharks, said the shark could have found its human meal a long way from Galveston. A shark can swim 200 miles in a day, he said. He estimated it would take a shark about three days to digest a human body.

Baughman also said that it is possible the shark did not attack the youth, but devoured the body after the youth had drowned or died in some other manner.

New Pig-Feeding System Paying Off for Farmers

A pig-feeding device which might be adopted profitably by many swine raisers has been developed in northeastern California.

The "pig strainer," as it is popularly known, was invented by Jess Steiner who lives in Modoc county near Cedarville.

A new kind of creep, the "strainer" sorts pigs out by size at feeding time.

Here's how it came about:

Steiner purchased buttermilk from a creamery at Alturas which he feeds as part of the ration to his hogs. He figured out that it was necessary to feed the pigs according to size, since the small animals had difficulty in getting their fair share of feed alongside the larger hogs.

Therefore, he arranged his pigs at the trough where the buttermilk and concentrates are fed in such a way that, by using creeps, the hogs naturally arranged themselves according to size.

Tree Roots Troublesome When Invading Sewers

Tree roots mean trouble when they grow into sewers. Costly digging to free clogged drains can be avoided by a simple practice, George Adamson, of the Michigan state agricultural college, recommends use of copper sulfate or blue vitriol in freeing sewers of tree roots that may be causing stoppages.

91-Year-Old Traveler Gets Chance to Climb Mountain

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Mrs. Rosa B. Kellog has always wanted to climb a mountain. But now she is 91 and it seemed unlikely she would get the opportunity.

Recently, however, she got a chance and she was determined to realize her ambition despite her age. She plans to climb her mountain in Alaska this summer. She left recently on a travel tour.

"My friends seem to be worried about my going," said Mrs. Kellog as she went about packing for the trip.

"But I feel fine," she declared. "Why stay at home when I love to travel?"

Warned that living conditions might not be as comfortable as the 11 room home in which she lived, Mrs. Kellog replied:

"I wouldn't care if I had to sleep on the floor as long as I could join in the fun with the others."

Mother of Youth Who Set Fire to Shrine Kills Self

KYOTO, Japan — Mrs. Shinako Hayashi, 49, mother of the youth who is accused of setting fire to Kyoto's ancient shrine, the Golden Pavilion, threw herself to death from a speeding train "to atone for her son's crime."

Mrs. Hayashi journeyed from her home in Kyoto to see her son. He refused to talk with her. On her return journey she jumped to her death.

Before leaving to return to her home, she told reporters she would die for her son to atone for the crime. Her son, who also attempted suicide, told police he set fire to the pavilion because he was "jealous of its beauty."

Shaw Requested No Gifts, Cards on 94th Birthday

LONDON, England—George Bernard Shaw, who was 94 on July 26, asked not to be reminded of the anniversary. He sent messages to persons who, on the basis of past performances, might be expected to pester him again:

"Mr. Bernard Shaw implores his friends and readers not to celebrate his birthdays, nor even to mention them to him. It is easy to write one letter or send one birthday cake, but the arrival of hundreds of them together is a calamity that is not the less dreaded because it occurs only once a year. "Acknowledgement of such unwelcome letters and gifts is not possible."

Egg Preservation Methods Seen Due for Improvement

Present methods of preserving table eggs may be revolutionized by the use of a new compound developed by Dr. Alexis Romanoff and W. D. Yushok of Cornell's agricultural experiment station.

The compound, a mixture of a plastic substance called polystyrene, with chlorinated rubber and other chemicals, forms a film over the egg and preserves it at ordinary temperature.

Highway Forces Get Ready For Winter

State Highway forces in Appomattox County are beginning now to make preparations for road maintenance during the coming winter. Under the direction of resident engineer W. C. Poston, of Appomattox, maintenance forces are checking the condition of every road in the County. They are under instructions from Richmond to "see that every possible provision within the limit of available funds is made to avoid or minimize winter damage."

Highway spokesmen said the road agency is determined for the fifth consecutive year to make good its slogan, "Not one school bus day lost because of mud."

Following summer rains which in many instances filled ditches and clogged drainage, emphasis is being placed on opening ditches to provide adequate run-off for winter rain and melting snow.

Weak sections of stabilized roads are being strengthened with additional materials and efforts are being made to smooth out all unpaved secondary roads.

Other preparatory work will include cutting back brush and vegetation, sealing and patching paved roads, checking the joints on concrete roads, and stock-piling emergency supplies of chemicals and abrasives for ice-control.

Plows, dozers and other snow-fighting equipment are being readied for heavy duty.

After two consecutive mild winters, highway engineers fear this "may be a bad one." They are taking no chances.

Thousands now own two fine cars

Yes, right now, over 250,000 families are two-Ford families—many thousands of them owners of two big 1950 Fords. And the number is growing every day! These families have found that the second Ford means a personal car for Dad, with a car at home that's always "on call" for Mom and the rest of the family! They have found, too, that Fords are a sound investment—low in first cost, low in maintenance and high in resale value. They like the economy of owning two Fords.

TAKE A "TEST DRIVE" AT YOUR FORD DEALER'S

White sidewall tires and wheel trim rings optional at extra cost.

—and they're both BIG '50 FORDS

For family "travelling companions" there's no smarter combination than a '50 Ford Tudor Sedan and a '50 Ford Fordor Sedan! With "Fashion Car of the Year" styling! With your choice of engines—the new 100 h.p. V-8, or the new 95 h.p. "Six"! With 35% easier-acting King-Size Brakes! With a true "Mid Ship" Ride in Ford's famous sound-conditioned "Lifeguard" Body, distinguished for its coachwork! Before you buy any car, see your Ford Dealer and "Test Drive" a '50 Ford! The car you now own may well provide the down payment for two new Fords!
